Dear Members and Friends of the GSA,

We hope you are having a productive summer and are not suffering too much from all our weather extremes. We are pleased to offer some advance information about our upcoming conference in this newsletter, along with results of our election. The full conference program, in PDF form, will be available later this summer, and details about the conference will also be in the conference app, also available in the coming weeks.

We also want to take this opportunity to recognize our Communications and Strategic Initiatives Manager, Nina Mondré Schweppe, who will be with the GSA through October and who has been an integral part of putting together last year’s and this year’s conference. Her public-facing work for the GSA has included keeping our social media accounts vibrant and finding us amazing images for our program covers. Behind the scenes, she has been a valued team member in all the work we do to get the conference organized and to keep the association running. Please join us in thanking Nina for her outstanding work and in wishing her all the best of luck in her future endeavors.

Margaret E. Menninger, Executive Director
Jennifer L. Jenkins, Operations Director
Help Support our GSA Community through the GSA Conference Community Fund. The Conference Community Fund is the GSA's only funding source for North American travel. These grants are funded by you, our members.

50% of your contribution will go to help offset membership dues and registration fees for colleagues in need in 2023, and the other 50% of your contribution will be used to grow the GSA Conference Community Fund for the years ahead.

PLEASE SUPPORT THE GSA CONFERENCE COMMUNITY FUND AND OUR GSA COLLEAGUES TODAY!

RADOMÍR LUŽA PRIZE

This prize is for an outstanding work in the field of Austrian and/or Czechoslovak World War II studies is named after the distinguished historian Radomír Luža, who was professor for European and German history at Tulane University, New Orleans, for more than 25 years. He published the first academic studies about Nazi persecution and resistance in Austria: “Austro-German Relations in the Anschluss Era” (1975) and “The resistance in Austria, 1938-1945” (1984).

The prize has been awarded since 2012 by the American Friends of the Documentation Center of Austrian Resistance and Center Austria: The Austrian Marshall Plan Center for European Studies of the University of New Orleans and bestowed since 2020 by the German Studies Association (GSA). It seeks to encourage research in the above-mentioned fields focusing on the time period of the 1930s and 1940s and carries a cash award of $1,000 financed by the Zukunftsfonds der Republik Österreich.

Deadline: August 15, 2023
The German Studies Association seeks a new editor for the Spektrum series, published with Berghahn Books. Responsibilities include soliciting manuscripts that reflect the scholarly interests of the GSA; working together with the series board to review proposals and select reviewers; maintaining academic standards; supporting authors and reviewers to meet deadlines and goals; working together with editors at Berghahn Books; communicating with the GSA Executive Board, the Spektrum series board, and Berghahn Books.

Candidates should be active scholars in their field and have excellent written and verbal communication skills in German and English. The new series editor will initially work together with David Luebke, the outgoing editor, in order to learn the position’s procedures. Since its inception the Spektrum series has published 23 volumes, with a current average of four volumes per year. Applications should include a cover letter outlining the applicant’s experience in academic editing and publishing along with a current c.v. and the names of three references. Review of applications will begin on August 14, 2023 with the goal of announcing the new editor by the annual conference. Please send applications to Daniel Purdy, dlp14@psu.edu

The German Studies Association and Berghahn Books are invested in fostering diverse and inclusive environments. Individuals from historically underrepresented groups and all those who share a commitment to inclusivity and diversity are strongly encouraged to apply.
The Forty-Seventh Conference of the German Studies Association
October 5-8, 2023 | Montréal, Québec, Canada

The German Studies Association's annual conference brings together over a thousand scholars to engage with research, teaching and public scholarship on German-speaking countries’ diverse histories, cultures, languages, and politics in global contexts. 2023 marks the first year that the GSA conference will be held outside the US; we look forward to welcoming you in Montréal this October!

INVITATION TO JOIN DAAD ALUMNI

Invitation to GSA Members to Join the DAAD Alumni Association (USA)

Most GSA members are familiar with DAAD programs and may have received DAAD grants or encouraged students to apply for a DAAD study abroad or internship program.

However, GSA members may not be familiar with the DAAD Alumni Association USA, which offers the opportunity to network with DAAD Alumni and support DAAD exchange programs through local and national events and initiatives.

Membership is not limited to DAAD alumni and is open to all individuals who share the goals of the organization and the DAAD. We invite you to join the DAAD Alumni Association USA by becoming a member donor.

GSA ELECTION RESULTS 2023

Visit the GSA website for further information about GSA elections for terms beginning 1/1/2024

Board: Germanistik (3 years)
Faye Stewart (University of North Carolina at Greensboro)
Associate Professor of German and cross-appointed faculty in the Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies program at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. Faye joined the GSA as a graduate student in 2002, and has participated in 16 conferences and served on the GSA’s Program Committee between 2016 and 2018. As a co-coordinator and founding member of the GSA’s Queer and Trans Studies Network, Faye works with colleagues to increase the visibility of queer and trans* scholars and scholarship. Passionate about collaborative service, activism, teaching, and research, feminist and antiracist frameworks inform both research and commitment to inclusivity, accessibility, and equity in the workplace, the classroom, and professional organizations. Faye aims to support and mentor graduate students, emerging scholars, and precariously employed or unemployed colleagues, amplify the voices of underrepresented colleagues, and help build coalitions to bring about meaningful change.

Board: History/Social Sciences, 20-21st century (3 years)
Paul Lerner (University of Southern California)
Professor of History at the University of Southern California and Director of the Max Kade Institute for Austrian-German-Swiss Studies. Paul focuses on German-Jewish history, the history of the human sciences, and consumer culture. Paul joined the GSA as a graduate student and regularly attends and presents at the conference. He has been an active member of the German Jewish studies community, served as history co-chair for the Association for Jewish Studies and a member of the academic advisory board of the Leo Baeck Institute. He also co-founded and organized Southern California German Studies workshops and hosts on the New Books in German Studies podcast series.

Paul aims to continue to energize scholarly exchange, cultural programming, and educational content and to enrich the broader community’s intellectual and cultural life with the GSA.

Board: History/Social Sciences, early modern-19th century (3 years)
Denise Phillips (University of Tennessee at Knoxville)
Historian of science at the University of Tennessee Knoxville who works on eighteenth- and nineteenth-century German-speaking Europe. She has been widely published and has had her work supported by the Mellon Foundation, the National Science Foundation, the DAAD, the Fritz Thyssen Foundation, and the Fulbright Commission.

A GSA member since 2001 who regularly presents at annual meetings, she is invested in ensuring that the early modern period and the nineteenth century are represented in the field. She strives to work toward raising awareness about the essential role that multilingualism plays in building a more tolerant and meaningfully interconnected world.
Call for Participants

LGBTQ+ individuals and their communities have been organizing to assert their rights for over a century, especially in Germany and the United States—two countries that were early pioneers and that have currently achieved more equality than many other places. But many challenges still persist, especially as a backlash to greater LGBTQ+ rights has been visible in both countries.

A comparative examination of the history, present, and future of LGBTQ+ rights will generate new understandings, leadership skills, and policy lessons for both countries and many others around the world. This AGI project fosters cross-cultural exchange with participants from diverse backgrounds by sharing personal testimonies, successes and failures, and best practices through week-long study tours in the United States and Germany.
Consider joining our roster of GSA institutional members!

Institutional memberships offer a means to publicize centers, institutes and departments that have a strong focus on German Studies, while also opening the door for graduate students and non-tenure track faculty. In these ways, your institutional membership will help sustain German Studies research, scholarship, teaching, and advocacy.

The benefits include:

- Institutional membership:
  - Recognition in the biannual GSA newsletter, the annual conference program/app, and on the GSA website
  - One 1/4-page advertisement in the German Studies Review

- Graduate institutional membership further includes:
  - One 1/2-page ad in the German Studies Review
  - Six complimentary 1-year GSA memberships for graduate students and/or non-tenure track/contingent faculty at your institution

Register your institution online here!
