A NEW JOURNAL

The Western Association for German Studies can now announce the publication of a scholarly journal, beginning in 1978. Subscription will be included at no increase in the regular annual dues. Published three times each year, the journal will carry articles (both in each discipline and interdisciplinary), news, and book reviews.

The Association has been able to secure financial assistance from Arizona State University and San José State University. The German Summer School of the University of New Mexico has joined us as a special institutional member. Additional institutional memberships in the Association will be helpful. We will also need library subscriptions, set at the special rate of $20 per year. Members are encouraged to support the journal by obtaining library orders from their institutions.

The Executive Committee has appointed Prof. Gerald R. Kleinfeld of the Department of History at Arizona State University as Editor of the journal. Prof. Kleinfeld has submitted his resignation as Secretary-Treasurer of W.A.G.S., effective November 1, and the Committee will submit a nomination to the membership for a Secretary-Treasurer to succeed Prof. Kleinfeld. An Editorial Board, composed of established scholars in several disciplines of German studies, is being assembled. Members are asked to offer suggestions. It is hoped that the full board can be announced at our conference in October.

The journal will begin consideration of manuscripts November 1, 1977. Manuscripts may be in history, literature, political science, philosophy, other areas of German studies, or interdisciplinary. All manuscripts should be double-spaced on bond paper with end notes. A letter of inquiry prior to the submission of a manuscript is suggested, and should be addressed to

Discussions in Bonn

David Kitterman and Gerald Kleinfeld will be travelling to Germany for research this summer, as are many other members of the Association. At the invitation of Prof. Hans-Adolf Jacobsen of the University of Bonn, Kitterman and Kleinfeld will meet with German officials to establish contact for our Association. Reece Kelly, Vice President, is taking his sabbatical in the Fall and will be available in the Federal Republic to continue such discussions.

Conference Group for German Politics

The CGGP sent Prof. Henry Brompton (Univ. of California -Northridge) as a representative to the January meeting of the Executive Committee of the W.A.G.S. The Executive Committee and Professor Brompton discussed the possibilities of each organization sponsoring a session at the other's conferences and other ideas for cooperation.

Western Social Science Association

The annual conference of the WSSA was held in Denver on April 21-23. W.A.G.S. participants included: James M. TWO CHAIRS OF AUSTRIAN STUDIES AT US UNIVERSITIES

The Austrian Committee on the US Bicentennial originally wanted to raise in Austria enough money to establish one chair of Austrian Studies at a major University in the USA. The interest of the Austrian people in buying the so-called "American Stars" was so overwhelming that a total of 12 million Austrian Schilling was collected. The Austrian government is matching these revenues with an equal amount, and the total sum of about 1.4 million Dollars makes it possible to establish two chairs of Austrian Studies instead of the only one originally planned.

The committee under the chairmanship of Federal Chancellor Dr. Bruno Kreisky has informed the US Ambassador to Austria that it has chosen the University of Minnesota and Stanford University. The University of Minnesota is planning a "Center of Austrian Studies" utilizing an inter-disciplinary approach. Stanford, which already has a "Stanford in Austria Program" intends to employ visiting professors from Austria.

SUMMER STUDY VISITS TO GERMANY AND AUSTRIA

Austria Summer Institute

The University of North Iowa will sponsor a Summer Institute in Austria for teachers of German June 21-August 16. It will be held at Klagenfurt, an Alpine city of 70,000 inhabitants. Language instruction will be accompanied by an integrated course in culture and civilization of modern Austria and Germany.

To qualify one must possess a Bachelor's Degree or its equivalent and must meet eligibility requirements for admission to graduate studies at the University of Northern Iowa. Successful completion of the regular program offers eight graduate credits and individual projects can possibly earn additional credit.

The comprehensive cost of the Institute is $1150 plus the cost of the charter flight which was $368 last summer. Those interested should contact: Dr. Fritz König, Director, 1977 Summer Institute in Austria, University of North Iowa, Cedar Falls, Iowa, 50613.

Summer Session in Trier, Germany

The Georgetown University School for Summer and Continuing Education will conduct a six week summer session at the facilities of the University of Trier. The program will offer intensive courses on several levels of the German language. Although no graduate courses will be taught in the 1977 Session, graduate credit can be earned by taking the two advanced upper level undergraduate courses offered and completing required additional work.

The cost for room, partial board (breakfast, noon-dinner, Monday-Friday), tuition, academic fees, and limited health insurance is $640. This does not include incidental expenditures, travel between Paris and Trier or travel, room, and board prior to or after the end of the program. The round trip group flight from New York to Paris will be approximately $359.

Deadline for application is May 2, 1977. For additional information write to: Rev. Joseph Zrinyi, S.J., Director of Admission, Summer Session in Trier, Georgetown University, Washington, D.C., 20057.

SUMMER SCHOOL INQUIRY (Student Request)

We are in the process of preparing a student guide to German School Programs in the U.S. Our primary interest is a program which offers "total immersion" in German. The aim is to bring to the attention of American students summer school programs in the U.S. which offer the opportunity to "live" the language. We feel that this is of particular importance to students who cannot afford a summer abroad.

Below is a list of summer school programs which are based on the "total immersion" approach. If you are aware of any other such programs, please write to Hannelore French and Donna Bond, graduate assistants, Arizona State University, Department of Foreign Languages, Tempe, Arizona 85281.

Akzente des Deutschen Historikertages 1976

Der 31. Deutsche Historikertag Ende September in Mannheim, von Geschichtswissenschaftlern und Geschichtslehrern gemeinsam veranstaltet, fand nicht nur wegen der hohen Teilnehmerzahl und der vielen ausländischen Gäste ein lebhaftes Echo, sondern auch deshalb, weil zum erstenmal seit Gründung des Historikerverbandes (1893) ein deutsches Staatsoberhaupt teilnahm und eine stark beachtete Rede hielt. Bundespräsident Walter Scheel plädierte für Toleranz gegenüber einer Vielfalt von Geschichtsbildern und Methoden der Geschichtsvermittlung. Er forderte diese Toleranz auch von den Lehrbüchern und vom Schulunterricht. Von der deutschen Frage als Geschichts- und Gegenwartsthema sprachen vor allem jüngere Historiker wie Hellmut Diwald, Würzburg, der ein Eingeständnis der tatsächlich unüberbrückbaren Teilung statt beschönigender und formaler Phrasen von der "Nation als Bezugspunkt" der Geschichte forderte, und

Siegfried Grassmann, neuer Vorsitzender des Verbandes der Geschichtslehrer, der dazu aufforderte, die sogenannte "deutsche Identität" schonungslos zu überdenken. Der scheidende Vorsitzende des Historikerverbandes, der Heidelberger Sozialhistoriker Werner Conze, zeichnete in seinem Vortrag über "Bedingungen und Ergebnisse der deutschen Geschichtswissenschaft seit 1945" ein positives Bild. Die westdeutsche Geschichtswissenschaft habe durch Aufnahme der sozio-ökonomischen Betrachtungsweise gewonnen; sie sei methodisch bewußter geworden. Sein Nachfolger, der Münchner Neuhistoriker Gerhard A. Ritter, forderte dazu auf, den Wandel in der Einstellung zur Geschichte in einen konkreten Gewinn für das Fach (etwa zur Förderung des heute blockierten Nachwuchses) umzumünzen. (Verband der Historiker Deutschlands, Historisches Seminar der Universität, Südfeld, D-6900 Heidelberg 2.)

Der Untertan (1951)

100 minutes

Lissy (1957)

88 minutes

This beautifully modulated film sheds some light on why the Jews fell into disfavor during the economic dislocations of pre-Nazi Germany. Based on a novel, it recounts the story of a woman who actually existed. Lissy worked at the cigarette counter of a bar in Berlin; though the daughter of a socialist, she was determined to escape her working class environment. She marries a man who appears to have security as an office worker, but as times grow harder, he loses his job. In desperation-and to the regret of Lissy-he turns to the Nazi Party for work, for status, and for retribution against those prominent in the crumbling business community, notably the Jews. By this time Lissy's brother has also become a Storm Trooper, a situation which leads to a final clash of values. Like The Shop on Main Street, this film focuses on the human dimensions of the Holocaust. Lissy is a somber, yet honest and thought-provoking drama about the rise of anti-Semitism, from Hitler's climb to power to the burning of the Reichstag.

Rotation (1949)

83 minutes

Rotation by Wolfgang Staudte (The Murderers Are Among Us) reflects a recurring theme of the 40's DEFA films; the inability of the German working class to recognize and thus prevent the impending dangers of fascism. The story unfolds over twenty years, ending with the fall of Berlin and the collapse of the Reich. Hans Behnke, the protagonist, is an essentially decent and non-political person inclined to take the path of least resistance. He is a hard-working printer whose life centers around his wife and child. When he finally decides to aid an anti-fascist group and unwittingly brings home some of their leaflets, he is betrayed to the Gestapo by his own son.

	The story of Siggi Jepsen. While writing an essay in a reformatory school on "The joys of doing one's duty", Siggi recalls his childhood. His father was a policeman, who was given the order in 1943, to forbid his boyhood friend Nansen, an expressionist painter, from painting. Siggi's father sternly carries out the orders and confiscates the paintings. The boy Siggi steals and hides them. He rescues, where his father destroys. In recollecting the past, the essay becomes the story of his life and an attempt to understand himself and his father's generation.

- TV2 Der Attentäter 90 minutes
 On November 8, 1939, a time-bomb explodes in the Bürgerbräu Keller in Munich. Contrary to his usual custom, Hitler, who was the target, had left eleven minutes earlier. The Gestapo identifies Georg Elser as the assassin. Stubbornly Elser denies having had any accomplices. Shortly before the end of the war, Elser is executed.
- TV4 Die Beichte 90 minutes
 An unknown elderly man confesses to the priest, Father Bernhard Weller, his gruesome past as a member of a liquidation group during the war, which also killed civilians in the East. Father Weller cannot grant the man absolution, but implores him to give himself up to the authorities. The man refuses and returns again and again seeking absolution. Father Weller turns him away one day. Shortly thereafter, a prominent business man is missing. Father Weller now faces the question: is this the man from his confession booth?
- TV7 Bauern, Bonzen und Bomben 438 minutes
 Egon Monk's TV adaptation of Fallada's famous novel on peasant demonstrations in a small North German town during the time between the two world wars. Through intervention of the police, the demonstration ends in bloodshed. This leads to a struggle until everyone is fighting everyone. The trial of the farmers' leaders results in the farmers boycotting all buying and selling of consumer goods. The events in and around the little town demonstrate the struggles of the Weimar Republic, which eventually delivers itself into the hands of its executioner.
